LECTURES AND EQUIPMENT

Each plenary lecture is allotted 30 minutes. Each poster speaker will have 2–3 minutes of plenary time to announce the main results of her/his poster talk. The size for posters will be announced. The conference hall will be equipped with a computer, a video beam, an over-head projector, and a blackboard.

ABSTRACTS AND PROCEEDINGS

Abstracts (up to two pages) will be published prior to the Workshop and distributed among the participants on registration. The refereed proceedings of the conference will be published as a special issue in the journal Regular and Chaotic Dynamics. Submission guidelines and refereeing standards for papers are those of RCD. You are welcome to submit a paper of whatever length you deem appropriate by October 1, 2018.

TRAVEL

The Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology (MIPT) is situated in the town of Dolgoprudny 18 km north of Moscow. Information on how to get to the MIPT campus can be found at the website of the conference. More detailed information is also available at the website of the institute: <https://mipt.ru/about/general/contacts/way.php> (in Russian).

ACCOMMODATION

The organizing committee suggests the Residence Hall #10 in the Campus of the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology in Dolgoprudny on favorable terms. Detailed information is available at the conference website. The participants may choose any other hotel, both in Dolgoprudny and in Moscow itself. The organizing committee will readily provide necessary information on other alternatives and assist in booking hotel rooms.

CURRENCY AND PAYMENT

The only currency in official use in Russia is Russian rouble. The exchange rates fluctuate and are approximately 1 euro = 75 roubles, 1 usd = 63 roubles. Visa, Mastercard and other cards are accepted for payment almost everywhere. There are also currency exchange offices, where one can draw money / exchange cash currency for roubles.

WEATHER AND CLOTHING

In early June the weather in the area of Moscow is usually pleasantly warm and sunny, with fresh evenings and occasional rains. Since some excursions are possible, take care to bring comfortable clothes and shoes suitable for walking.
